That is to say, he had violated the principle of passive obe h ence the Right were contending for. This produced a new excitement with inteterruptions and exclama-tions in abundance. The Late Mexican Claim Fraud,

Mr. Charles W. Davis, Secretary of the late Mex-ican Board, in a letter to the Intelligencer, says, that I a forgery has been perpetrated upon the Commi mission, that any Jury in the country, backed by the ume evidences and certificates of character from sentlemen of high standing in the army, would have bendeceived, and have given a large amount of damages in favor of the claimant.

The Intelligencer states that the alleged fraudulent

We have received the first number of La Gueta, published at St. Domingo, on the 15th ult. It ded to be the official sheet of the Govern ment. Two dispatches from President Baez give accounts of the collision with the Haytian forces, runon of which have already reached us. According to these accounts, a column of Haytian infantry, ac companied with cavalry, crossed the line of the advanced posts of the Dominicians, at Caleta, or the Southern frontier, on the 29th of May. The follouing day, the Dominicans being reinforced, re-lurred, and drove back the Haytians within their ties with much slaughter, without losing a single an their own side. President Baez denounces this act as a flagrant violation of the truce, and reha to Sonlougue's propitiatory manifests in term of trong and scorn. CITY ITEMS.

THE FOURTH .- Young America's peculiar celebration of the Glorious Fourth commenced esterday. A sort of scattering fire was kept up all day, in the streets, to the alarm of sensitive ladies and the irritation of irascible old gentlemen , but as night set in, the explosions became fast and frequent, and volleys of crackers snapped and fizzed in every quarter of the city. We can scarcely hear ourselves write, from the multitude of detonations at present going on around our office, and our ears are already weary of their ceaseless din. Yet there is no escape from these noisy expressions of patriotism till after midnight to-night. To-day, howeve., the sounds will be more diversified, and the big boom of cannon, the peal of the rejoicing bells, the brassy music of our stirring national airs and all other holiday sound will come in to drown and silence for a while this pop-gun jubilee.

We have received several communications touch ing this matter of squibs and crackers, all of course condemning it in indignant terms, and insisting that itshall be put down as a nuisance. We cannot so nsider it; the City has its big guns in the Battery and its big fire-works in the Park, and why should not the City's children discharge their small guns and send up their sixpenny rockets! One party en joys the fun as much as the other; and as for a quiet and demure Fourth of July, that would soon kill the anniversary altogether. We have already too few holdiays in this country of hard work and serious money-getting, and it is quite too much to expect that the tens of thousands to whom the day is a genuine recreation, will observe it with anything like Sabbath formality. Only let the Stars be vigilant to pre vent or repress any irregularity among the ill-disposed; the great masses of the city always conduct themselves rationally and peaceably on such occa-

A pleasant feature of the day is the number of excursions to all the delightful places, by lake and river mountain and sca-shore, within a radius of fifty miles. At least fifty thousand persons will breathe other than the air of our dusty streets to-day. To suchwho have few other chances of Summer recreationthe anniversary is always welcome. For their sake and for ours. (for we, too, have a holiday!) and for the country's, and, most of all, for what the festival symbolizes, we are in favor of celebrating the Fourth with squibs, crackers, rockets, roman candies, re volving fires, pistols, cannon, trumpets, horns, ora tions, drums, church-bells, banners, excursions, balleon-ascensions, barbecues, and all other lawful resources of Nature and Art. So, huzza for the Fourth of July, and in the good time coming, may we have three or four every year!

The following is a programme of the civic cele ration to- ay

A National Salute will be fired at sunrise on the Battery, by the Veteran Artillery Corps, under the command of Capt. Raynor.

The Military will form on Fourteenth-st. at eight o'clock, A. M., and will countermarch in Fourteenth st., thence down Broadway to Canal-st, through Ca nal-st, to West Broadway, down West Broadway to Chambers-st., through Chambers and Centre sts. to the east gate of the Park, and pass in review before the Mayor and Corporation in front of the City Hall at 10 o'clock. After the review the Military will be

In the evening there will be a display of VIRE CERS, commencing at 81 o'clock, in front of the City Hall, under the direction of Mr. J. W. HADFIELD at Tompkins-Square, by the Messrs. Edge; at Lam artine-Square by Mr. HADFIELD, and at Harlem by Mr. Moran. Shelton's Band will be in attendance a the City Hall, Whitworth's at Tompkins-Square, Dodworth's at Madison-Square, the Bind Band a Lamurti ne-Square, and Adkins' Band at Harlem.

THE OPERA.-The Opera is now in its glory, having every night audiences whose size is only equaled by the extent of their satisfaction. It will soon be more attractive; for, if we were not mistaken, there was last night crescent promise o golden moonlights on the Bay. To-night a rich programme is offered to the public. Messrs, French & Heiser have the right of the Garden for the Fourth, but they have engaged the whole Opera Company who will give Lucia di Lammermoor. In addition there will be Duo from Marino Faliero, a National Overture, and a grand display of Fire-Work from the

The Annual Examination of the Classical and Mathematical School under the care of Mr. Stephen J. Sedgwick, 84 Sixth-avenue, closed on Wednesday, having continued nearly a week. The pupils gave evidence of careful training and diligent udy, and acquitted themselves to the entire satisfaction of their teachers and the large audiences which witnessed their performances from day to day In History, Geography, Mathematics, and the other English branches, as well as in Latin and Greek, the young gentlemen made ready answers, and had a good comprehension of general principles. The Examinations in this School are made the test of the ext year's advancement, and the pupil is doubly encouraged by the allurements of honor and promotion. In Declamation their intonation and gestures were particularly pleasing, and the performances in this department were very gratifying : Masters G. Robinson, G. Smith, T. Starr and H. Davies excelled. Altogether, the occasion has been most satisfactory and the deportment of the pupils reflects much credit upon the Principal and his able Assistants.

HATS FOR HOT WEATHER .- Decidedly the greatest luxury one can enjoy during these tropi cal days-not even excepting a salt water bath or an iced beverage-is a light, cool and softly-fitting Summer Hat. The fabric must be as fine and soft as if woven from the sheared edges of the twilight clouds, cool as the sea-breeze that blows over the balcony of Castle Garden, and light as one's inclination to work on a hot July afternoon. If our readers wish to know where such hats are to be found, we cannot do better than recommend them to our old friend Knox, in Fulton-st.

MEETING OF THE ALUMNI OF THE UNI-ERSITY .- At a meeting of the Alumni of the University on Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Geo. H. Moore was elected President of the Association for the ensuing year; Howard Crosby, Vice-President; and Martin, Treasurer. Prof. C. S. Henry deliv ered an Address on the condition and prospects of the University, in which he referred to the changes which have taken place in its management, and declared that all the Faculty required was to nominate

A PANORAMA FOR THE FOURTH .- An appropriate place of recreation to-day will be Washing Hall, where the large and beautiful National Panorama will preach a silent but not ineffectual oration. Those who give the day to enjoymen should not forget it.

NIBLO'S .- The two justly deserving and popular dansenses, M'dlies. Franck have been engaged by the Ravel Family and will appear on Mon day in Adolphe Adam's ballet of Le Diable a Quatre, which will be acted in admirable style, with the as sistance of the Ravels.

NIAGARA DAGUERREOTYPED.-Stepping into Whitehurst's Saloon, 349 Broadway, the other day, we were much interested in examining a series of ten large Daguerreotype views of Niagara, in which the character of the scene was most effective ly rendered. The superb gallery of Mr. Whitehurst basilately been enriched by a large number of portraits of distinguished persons, executed in his ad mirable style. They already constitute a collection well worth seeing, as specimens of the art no less than as interesting portraits.

We are requested to say that the Island House, at Bellows Falls, Vt., is now open for the accommodation of the public.

FIRE -At 2 o'clock yesterday morning. a fire broke out in the stable corner of Nineteenth-st, and Tenth-avenue, caused by some straw having caught fire from a furnace which was used for cook-ing in the yard. The flames were quickly subdued by the Fire Department.

Burk was taken before Justice Lothrop and committed for examination.

DEATH OF MRS. COLESTAY. We are called upon this morning to record the death of Mrs. Hety Coleman, the relict of the late William Coleman the founder, and for the first twenty-five years of its paner. Mrs. the founder, and for the first twenty-five years of its existence, the principal editor of this paper. Mrs. Coleman was the daughter of Dr. Haviland, a surgeon in the revolutionary army, who died from exposure, during the severe winter, when Washington was at Valley Forge. She was a noted belle in her earlier days, and retained the most vivid remembrances of Washington, the elder Adams, Hamilton, Burr, and other distinguished men, with whom she maintained an intimate acquaintance. Among her papers are copious collections of letters, sonnets, valentines, epigrams, &c., addressed to her youth and beauty, by the wits and gallants of our primitive times—some of them only known to their posterity now, by their heroic achievements as warriors of now, by their heroic achievements as warriors of statesmen. It is to be regretted that her reminiscen statesmen. It is to be regretted that her reminiscen-ces were never committed to paper, as they would have furnished many entertaining and instructive

His counsel, F. T. Freimghusen, Esq., addressed the Court in his behalf, asking their merciful consideration, seeing that the conviction alone was of itself a grievous punishment, that an innocent wife and a respectable or the convention of the convention

Chief Justice Green, in pronouncing the sentence, made some very impressive remarks, reminding the prisoner that by this conviction and sentence he stood in an ignominious position in society that he was now disfranchised and could never again give testimony in a court of justice, unless restored by legislative elemency to the rights which he had for-fedted by his own act.

DESTRUCTION BY FIRE OF THE SHIP Sallie Fears, of Bath.—The new ship Sallie Fearn, Capt. Charles Owen, from New-Orleans for Liverpool, with a cargo of 2,745 bales of cotton, and Liverpool, with a cargo of 2,745 bales of cotton, and $120,000 in American gold, sailed from the Southwest Pass of the Mississippi on the 14th uit. Nothing worthy of note occurred until the 2sth June, when the weather became squally, accompanied with rain, lightning and thunder. The squalls were not heavy, and the ship was under all sail, steering E. N. E., wind almost aft. At half past one, sea account, she was struck by lightning, which gave her a tremendous shock, fore and aft, and brought the fore topgallant mast on deck. The heel of the topgallant mast and the fore topmast head and heel were shivered into stellinters, the lightning then passed down the fore-

and royals were then taken in after which smoke was seen issuing from every opening below. At this time a sail hove in sight, and a signal of distress was made, which she answered by approaching the Salite Fearn. The main hatch was now opened, and two bales of cotton were taken out, and although the ship appeared to be full of smoke, no fire could be seen. Captain Owen ays: The hatches were again put on and caulked, to keep out the air. Again opened the forward full of smoke, no fire could be seen. Captain Owen ays: The hatches were again put on and caulked, to keep out the air. Again opened the forward hatch, and broke out one bale of cotton, and the smoke rushed up to an alarming extent. Closed the hatches immediately, and reversed the ensign union down, the sail steering directly for us. We then commenced pouring water over the chain lockers and fore hatch; but in a short time smoke issued from every part of the ship forward—all hands exerting themselves to the utmost, and obeying every order. At 4:30 P. M. the ship came alongside, and proved to be the Frank Johnston, Capt. Brown, from Havana bound to St. Petersourg; requested him to keep company with us for the night, alongside, and proved to be the Frank Johnston, Capt. Brown, from Havana bound to St. Petersourg, requested him to keep company with us for the night, and steer North, to which he, without hesitation, consented, filled away, and hauled to the North, "till we could ascertain if the fire could be stifled."—Wind fresh from S.W. Set main topgallant sail and passed ahead of the ship—all hands pouring water on the forecastle deck and chain lockers. At 6:30 P. M. found the pitch beginning to coze from both sides of the deck, and could hear the fire below burning with awful rapidity. Hove the main yard to the mast, for the ship to come up. Opened for a moment the fore-hatch, and found the snip a living mass of fire. Ship came alongside, and we told capt. Brown, who offered us all the assistance in his power.

Then the fire below, apparently to the main hatch, burned like a roaring calaron. Capt. Brown then left for his ship, seeing no more assistance could be rendered. We now commenced saving what few things were about the deck and our luggage. At 8 P. M. the fire burned through the main deck, on the larboard side in two places, abreast the fore rigging. Sent three loads of dunnage, &c., to the ship. There being considerable swell and a fresh breeze, we were not able to load the boats deep. The boats returned immediately, together with a boat from the ship. At 8 30 P. M. the fire burned from the ship. At 8 30 P. M. the fire burned from the ship. At 8 30 P. M. the ship was wrapped in a living flame, fore and aft. The foremast, manmast, and mizzenmast, together with all sails, went by the board, to starboard, and the fames roared up from every part of the ship. At 10 P.M. by appearance, the ship had burned nearly to the water's edge. Capt. Brown now filled away to the northward, heid a consultation, and thought it best to make for the nearest port—our crew and passengers consisting of 27 in number, and not a large quantity of water and provisions on board. At 11 P.M. the flames considerably decreased, and suppose the ship must have sunk shortly after midnight, as no flames could be seen. And so ends the melancholy fate of the Sallie Fearn. Lat, 36 40, Lon. 7945.

The ship Frank Johnson, Capt. Brown, with the crew and passengers of the Sallie Fearn, arrived here yesterday altermoon. Capt. Owen speaks in the highest terms of Capt. Brown, and all on board his ship, for their noble conduct to himself, his passengers and crew, not only in saving their lives, but in rendering them every aid to save their clothing, up to the last moment.

The Sallie Fearn was a new ship of 850 tuns, on her first voyage, and was valued at $60,000. She is mostly insured in this city.
